Father Paul's Reflections on the Readings

30th Sunday in Ordinary Time

In today's Gospel parable about the Pharisee and the tax collector, Jesus reminds us that God hears the prayers those who approach Him in humility with a repentant heart. God did not hear the prayer of the Pharisee because he exalted himself. The problem isn't in his actions, but rather his attitude. Reading over the parable, what is most disturbing is his claim: "God, I thank you that I am not like other people." Perhaps the Pharisee's greatest sin is his denial of fundamental human solidarity. The tax collector is a sinner, but at least he knows it. He is in touch with his need for God. His prayer comes from a heart open to being challenged and transformed by God's love and forgiveness. He wears no masks; aware of his unworthiness, he has no choice but to trust in God's mercy. The tax collector's prayer, "O God, be merciful to me, a sinner," was heard because he humbled himself, acknowledging his sins and requesting God's mercy. So what is the real difference between the Pharisee and the tax collector? It is not that one is righteous and that the other is a sinner. Both, in fact, are sinners. The difference lies at the level of their ability to accept who they are before God. How do I see myself before God? Do I stand in solidarity with all my brothers and sisters, whose fate is somehow linked with my own?

SPECIAL COLLECTION OCTOBER 29-30, 2022

In the aftermath of Hurricane Ian, which devastated areas across Florida and other parts of the southeastern US, recovery and cleanup efforts continue. Many lives have been lost and thousands of homes, business, and Church properties have been damaged or destroyed. Throughout the region, Catholic Charities USA (CCUSA), Catholic Relief Services (CRS), in conjunction with other agencies, are already hard at work providing humanitarian aid. Items like food, water, sanitation assistance and clean-up services are already being provided and the agencies will remain in the area to support repair and rebuild efforts in communities. Bishop Brennan appreciates your generosity this past summer to those affected by the severe storms and flooding in Eastern Kentucky and Southern West Virginia. But he feels impelled once again to ask you to do what you can to help our fellow Americans suffering from Hurricane Ian
